In the Midst of the Digital Transformation Storm

The rapid advancement of new online technologies is reshaping career and business success dynamics nationwide.

The digital and internet process is now driving career success and self-evolution across all industries.

The necessity to understand and to know how-to work on the internet and digitally is making it harder for at-risk youth and adults to find, to apply for and to retain jobs, as well as to start businesses.

Simultaneously, globalization and cultural diversity will require leaders to embrace a NEW strategic vision that combines technical training innovations to make digital literacy possible for everyone who seeks (and needs) to learn to work on the internet to survive.

In this complex digital landscape, success depends on the ability to align technological advancements with train-the-trainer programs that will encourage digital literacy transformation.

Leaders must inspire their teams, foster collaboration, and create a culture that supports digital adaptability and growth.

How? By balancing innovative workforce readiness training with human-centered digital learning training approaches, organizations must be prepared help at-risk youth and adults to navigate today's fast-changing digital environment or they will fail without this help..

Educators, teachers and trainers must ensure that they not only adapt in learning how-to teach digital literacy, but they must learn to how-to collaborate and to teach at-risk youth and adults how-to thrive digitally in an increasingly competitive digital world.

Leaders must inspire their employees and staffs to foster collaboration and to create a culture that supports digital online adaptability and growth.

By balancing innovative workforce readiness training courses with human-centered digital learning training approaches, organizations must be prepared help at-risk youth and adults to navigate today's fast-changing digital environment.

They must ensure that they not only adapt in learning to teach digital literacy but also learn to teach at-risk youth and adults how-to thrive digitally in an increasingly competitive digital world.

We Train Trainers, That's What We Do!

How Digital Literacy Will Help to Make Changes in Your Community

Live Training is Dead 80% Not Ready to Work

Billions of dollars are going to be funded to teach ONLINE workforce readiness skills training. 80% or more of the people who need workforce readiness training are not proficient enough to learn or to work ONLINE.

Digital Literacy workforce readiness ONLINE training is important for several reasons:

People Who Do Not Want to (or Cannot) Go to College

The U.S High School dropout rate is close to 40% and the college dropout rate is over 60%.

The dropout rate for African American Males attending college is over 85%.

People Who Do Not Want to (or Cannot) Go to College

Fact: These people are not ready to participate in the ONLINE digital workforce. What are these people going to do?

Digital Literacy workforce readiness online training is important because there is no alternative to training or learning (even for a trade) except ONLINE.

Doomed to Failure

Results: Crime increases, mental health problems increase (suicides and mass murders) and the increase in the lack of faith in our U.S. Democracy. People who can't learn ONLINE are doomed to failure.

This will grow into a $ billion-dollar ONLINE education market once we realize that this type of training is mandatory.

Helping People “Who Do Not Want to (or Cannot) Go to College

Our online training workshops provide a variety of high-tech online education tools that ensures that our clients staff receives an affordable, time saving and evidence-based training experience.

We Train Trainers, That's What We Do!

Helping People “Who Do Not Want to (or Cannot) Go to College

They would be prepared to go out into their communities to teach youth and adults ‘who do not want to (or cannot) go to college’ workforce readiness skills, life preparation skills, second chance / reentry skills and start-a-business skills.

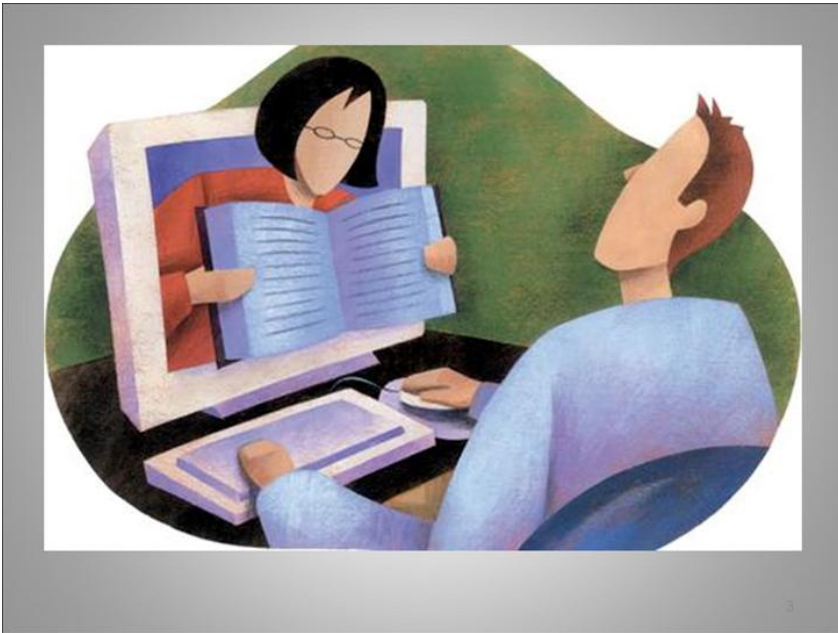

We Train Trainers, That’s What We Do!

Hurricanes and Floods

With the advent of the horrific hurricanes and floods nationwide in the recent months (and years) will increase the demand and need for ONLINE digital literacy training.

What else can you do when you have no home, no schools and no work infrastructure?

This will grow into a $ billion-dollar ONLINE education market once we realize that this type of training is mandatory.

School Shootings

With school shootings and mass murders a norm nationwide in the recent months (and years), the demand and need for ONLINE digital literacy training that leads to ONLINE workforce readiness, life skills and start-a-business skills training will increase to protect our youth and young adults from psychopaths.

This will allow them to safely learn at-home. This will also grow into a $ billion-dollar ONLINE education market.

Ex-Offenders

The ex-offender prison release programs, with over 600,000 people released every year and approximately 10 million returning citizens already back into their communities, the need is also there.

As pre-prison release programs are expanding to using online education with tablets to teach ex-offender pre-release workforce readiness skills, these individuals will need to know how to use a computer to work ONLINE and Digital Literacy training is mandatory.

This will also grow into a $ billion-dollar ONLINE education market.

Military

There are millions of retired veterans with disabilities and except for their military work experiences, they lack 21st century life skills, workforce readiness and start-a-business skills.

The Results

High veteran unemployment, homelessness and rising veteran's suicide rates will require the military and the VA to teach digital literacy skills to life skills and workforce readiness skills training on computers, tablets and on cell phones to save lives.

This will also grow into a $ billion-dollar ONLINE education market.

What Are Digital Literacy Train-the-Trainer Courses & Certification Programs?

65% of the USA Education Market

We train-trainers nationwide to teach our 250 online education workshops to the staffs of non-profit organizations.

With our train-the-trainer program, they can teach at-risk youth and adults, ex-offenders, high school dropouts, college dropouts and ‘people who do not want to (or cannot) go to college.

This demographic represents over 65% of the USA $ 7 trillion education market. This training will enable at-risk youth and adults to either “making-a-job” or to “getting-a-job”.

There are several specific benefits that teachers and adult community trainers will provide their trainees once they learn to teach digital literacy skills.

Beyond being basic and mandatory, teaching digital literacy skills ONLINE along with workforce readiness skill, will teach people how-to move about in today's digitally connected ONLINE world.

Helping People “Who Do Not Want to (or Cannot) Go to College

These workforce readiness skills, life preparation skills, second chance / reentry skills and start-a-business skills workshops will train and certify our client’s staff as professional trainers.

(*) A Master Trainer Certification is an FIE license to train others using FIE’s copyrighted training curriculum and manuals.

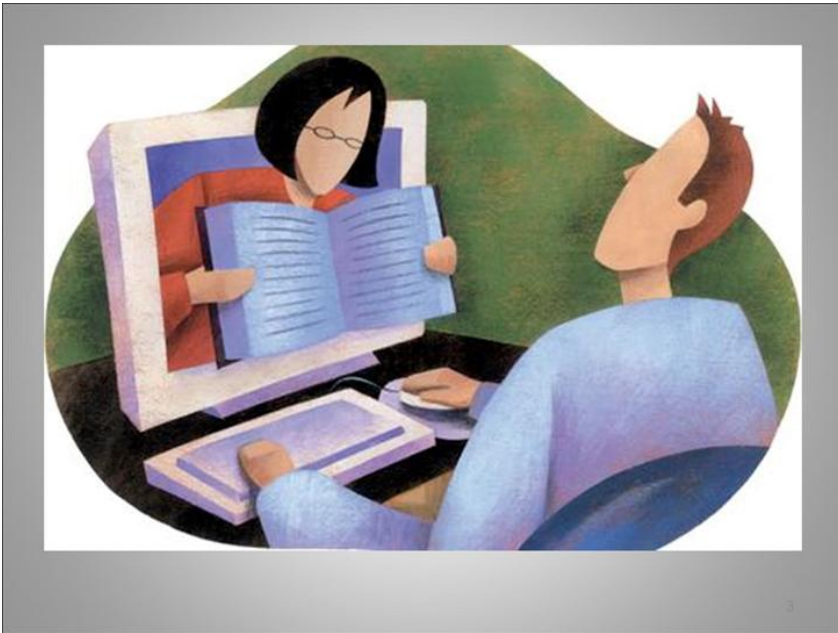

We've compiled a list of digital literacy training online training courses and programs for at-risk youth that cover different areas of digital literacy training for teachers and at-risk youth community trainers.

Comments from Our Customers

“ So many kids see no way out of the situations they were born into. You are helping others show these kids that there is life after gangs and poverty. I applaud you”
A.P., St. Louis, Missouri

With States cutting budgets and transferring ex-offenders from prison and jails back to the community to save money, this will cause a void in inmate skill set development that is required to reenter the community. The demand for help will be astronomical!
AM, Philadelphia, PA

Digital literacy train-the-trainer courses includes the following train-the-trainer course topics:

- Workforce Readiness in a Digital World
- Starting-a-Business in a Digital World
- Life Preparation Skills in a Digital World
- Second Chance / Reentry Training for a Digital World.
- Digital Technology Learning for a Digital World.

There are additional reasons why teaching digital literacy is so important:

- (1) The students will Improve their writing, reading, listening and speaking skills.
- (2) They will have the ability to identify authentic information and materials.
- (3) They will Increase their frequency and ability to use ONLINE digital technology.

(4) They will enhance their ability to collaborate with teachers and peers.

(5) They will enhance their person-to-person engagements with others.

(6) They will Improved their academic performance.

(7) And most importantly, they will be able to navigate and to learn online.

Digital literacy train-the-trainer courses and certification programs will help teachers and at-risk youth community trainers to teach at-risk youth how-to-develop a strategy to successfully work with digital and online tools.

Comments About Our Workshops
